

Newborn Screening Bulletin #95

August 20, 2015

Cards Expiring

There is a batch of blood spot collection cards that will be expiring August 31, 2015. Please check your stock and ensure that after this date you no longer use these cards for collection. Unused cards can be sent back to NSO. Cards where the sample is collected before the expiry date but received at NSO after the expiry date will still be tested. A repeat will not be required, but NSO will alert you that we received expired cards.

Labour Day Reminder

With the upcoming long weekend, we would like to remind you to please ensure that all samples that are ready to be shipped on September 4th make that day's courier run. This will ensure that babies receive the most timely screening possible.
