

Newborn Screening Bulletin #94

June 30, 2015

Canada Day Reminder

Newborn screening samples should be shipped to NSO every business day as soon as they are dry. By looking at the most recent batchograms, we can tell that most of you have this down pretty solid!

But with tomorrow being a statutory holiday, and courier and laboratory services not being operational, we would like to remind you to please ensure that all samples that are ready to be shipped make today's courier run. This will ensure that babies receive the most timely screening possible.

You can't tell by looking at a baby if he/she has one of the diseases targeted by newborn screening. Even affected babies look healthy at birth—that is why every baby needs a newborn screen.
